

Macbook Air cuts cake useless otherwise

Rahul Sood of HP and VoodooPC used his new birthday present to cut his cake since it's flat edge was its best (and probably worst) selling point.

I had no idea what voodooPC was but now I want to see them have a showdown with Alienware to see who can sell me a computer then have the value depreciate the fastest. $30 dollars a day doesn't seem unreasonable when your computer costs $8,000 dollars.

TCG might not be the right place to talk about this though...
